Munich - In 1972, the Summer Olympics in Munich, which had been dubbed "The Olympics of Peace and Joy", were off to a rousing start. Suddenly, without warning, an extremist Palestinian group known as Black September invaded the Olympic Village, massacring the Israeli Olympic team. While the Munich terror was seen and felt around the world, the intensely secret aftermath of the event has remained largely unknown. Now, from director Steven Spielberg comes this gripping thriller based on the events of Munich 1972 and the highly charged mission of retribution that followed, by the covert hit squad who carried out one of the boldest and most aggressive assassination plots in modern history. In taut, vivid and human detail, the film takes audiences into a hidden moment in history that resonates with many of the same emotions in our lives today. - 3:30 pm Death: A Series About Life - Physical Death - What happens to us when we die? In this episode we will see what happens when we die, and how death fits into nature and the cycle of life. A lot of people go a long way in trying to overcome death. In this episode we will meet several popular, and some more obscure, survival strategies. But in the history of life and evolution, could we have lived without it? We will show that in the human body there's a constant battle between life and death, where death is a driving force for life. And we ask if advances within modern medicine have resulted in a change of attitudes - leaving many people no longer seeing death as a natural thing. But in the process, did they bring civilisation to India or tear it apart? From the moment the first Mughal emperor Babur arrived from Afghanistan, the debate began. Were the Mughals imposing their own religion of Islam on a Hindu country, or were they open to the religion and art of the country they were conquering? Sona Datta traces how this most spectacular of all Indian civilisations also sowed the seed of discord. (Part 2 of 3) (From the UK) (Documentary Series) PG CC
